AT a General Meeting of the SURTEES SOCIETY, held in the Castle of Durham, on the sixth day of June, 1855,

It was resolved, "That THE OBITUARY ROLL OF PRIORS EBCHESTER AND BURNBY be edited by the Rev. JAMES RAINE, as one of the publications of the Society for the current year."

AT a Meeting of the Council of the SURTEES SOCIETY, held in the Castle of Durham, on the thirteenth day of December, 1855,

It was resolved, "That THE OBITUARY ROLL, instead of constituting one of the publications for the present year, be transferred to the year 1856."

PREFACE.

JOHN BURNBY, one of the Priors of Durham * commemorated in the Roll which occupies the chief place in the following pages, is stated, in a document in the possession of the Reverend Henry Burnaby Greene, of Longparish, in the diocese of Winchester, to have

* “Singultus duplices rotularis pagina profert.” Baldricus, in Rotulo Cenomensi. Duchesne, Hist. Franc. Script. t. iv. There is abundance of proof in the following pages that not unfrequently the names of even more than two persons were combined in the same Obituary Roll. In fact two or three families seem to have united in thus soliciting the prayers of the living in behalf of their deceased members.

Of Prior Burnby more will be said in the sequel. A few brief notices of Prior William Ebchester may be necessary, occupying as he does a full half of the “Rotularis Pagina,” here brought to light from the Durham Records. Prior Ebchester’s name bespeaks the place of his birth, the village of Ebchester, on the banks of the Derwent, in the county palatine; his original surname, whatever it may have been, having been laid aside upon his admission as a monk, in conformity with the practice rarely departed from at Durham.

In a document dated in 1455, it is recorded that Prior Ebchester was then seventy years of age, and in another in 1456, that he had been a professed monk of Durham for fifty years; we must therefore place his birth in 1385, and his full admission into the fraternity in 1406. This admission, however, must have taken place late in that year, as he is not mentioned as acting a part in the proceedings of the Convent upon the death of Bishop Skirlaw in March. In 1416 he held proxies from absent monks upon the election of Prior Wessingbeen a member of the family of Burnaby of Northamptonshire, from which he himself is descended; and, in addition to a gift of money contributed by himself and other members of his family to be ton, and in the January following we find him appointed, along with Robert Horneby, a fellow-monk, as Confessor in Durham College, Oxford. On the 7th July 1423 he was appointed by the Benedictine Convocation at Northampton to preach at its next general Chapter (Reyner, p. 179). In 1424 (1st March) he was constituted Proctor General of the Prior and Convent of Durham in all matters concerning their College at Oxford, their Cell of St. Leonard's at Stamford, &c. In 1426, and again in 1429, being then "Sacræ Paginæ Professor," he represented his Convent at Northampton. In 1430, 11th September, he was appointed Prior of Holy Island, an office which he held till 1437, representing in the meantime his mother church of Durham at Northampton in 1432, and again in 1435. In 1437 we find him acting as sacrist at home, in which capacity, on the 6th of December in that year, he was sent to the King by his convent, along with John Mody, a fellow-monk, for licence to elect a successor to Bishop Langley. On the 7th January following he took part in the election of Bishop Neville, and after the election had been made, was deputed along with John Mody above mentioned to announce to the new bishop the choice of the Convent. In 1438, and again in 1441, he was the proxy of his monastery at the General Council at Northampton. In 1439 he was one of the compurgators of Richard Blackburne, a fellow-monk, accused of incontinence. In 1442 he acted as one of the Procurators General of the Convent at the Bishop's Visitation, and after discharging various other offices and trusts in his Convent was elected Prior of Durham in 1446. On the 8th of June in that year Prior Wessington had resigned his high office in the Chapel of St. Nicholas, near the Prior's apartments. The election took place on the last day of that month. The mass of the Holy Ghost was sung at the high altar in the Cathedral, and after a sermon by the monk Robert Emylton, Ebchester was elected to the vacant chair without contest or compromise, "solo Sancti Spiritus instinctu et inspiratione." (Reg. iv. 46, &c.) The new Prior discharged expended by the Surtees Society in making the Ebbchester and Burnby Roll public, that gentleman has favoured the Editor with the following statements respecting the family of Burnby *:—

The family of Burnaby appears to have been settled in the midland counties of England from the time of the Conquest. The name is written in various ways, De Burnby, Burnabe, Burnaby, the latter mode having been chiefly in use in recent times. In the reign of Henry II. Eustace Arden received from the crown a grant of the lordship of Watford in Northamptonshire, which soon afterwards passed into the possession of the family of Burnaby by the marriage of John Burnaby with Sarah the grand-daughter of the grantee, and which continued in their possession till the time of James I. when a portion of it was sold by the then owner, Sir Richard Burnaby, to Sir George Clarke. In 9 Edw. II. Eustace Burnaby was High Sheriff for Northamptonshire, and one of his descendants held the same office in 18 and 27 Henry VI. A member of the family represented the same county in Parliament in 3 Edw. III. In the reign of King John, Robert de Burneby built and endowed a small religious his office in a manly and vigorous way. His public acts and his letters prove him to have been a person of independent spirit, knowing his duty, and performing it with resolution tempered with courtesy and kindness. As will be hereafter stated, he resigned his office in 1456, and dying soon afterwards was buried in the southern end of the middle transept, with a long rhyming epitaph, which may be seen in print in Hutch. ii. 97.

* I may mention that there are notices in the Durham Records of a Petronilla Burnby, to whose name a place was assigned in the Liber Vitæ, p. 108, as that of a benefactress to the Convent about the period in which the Prior flourished (the name of the Prior himself is entered in the same precious book, p. 119) and that twice in 1429 there were money dealings between Prior Wessington and Thomas Burnby of York. Reg. ii. parv. 39, &c.

house for Austin Canons at Bradley, on the borders of Leicestershire, and subsequently (30 May 1370) Eustace de Burnaby, presbyter, was instituted to the church of Thurnby, patron John de Haddon. The same person seems to have been instituted to the church of Thenford 29 Jan. 1382. The Burnaby family is traditionally celebrated for its devotion in building, endowing, and embellishing churches, and also for its loyalty, which appears to have cost it dear, since, though at one time possessed of valuable estates in Northamptonshire, in the parishes of Watford, Morcote, Sivelsworth, Staverton, Thenford, Cottesbrook, Cold Ashby, Ashby Legers, Hinckley, &c., yet, after the Restoration, we find that most of this extensive property had passed into other hands, having been, as it is said, expended in supporting the cause of Charles the First. The Burnabys appear to have been living at Watford in the middle of the seventeenth century. Towards the middle of the eighteenth John Burnaby, one of the family, was minister from the Court of St. James's to the Swiss Cantons. He married Clara, daughter of Sir Edward Wood, a loyal supporter and, as it would appear from some letters of that monarch in my possession, the trusted friend, of Charles the Second. This same Sir Edward Wood was, after the Restoration, appointed Envoy Extraordinary to the Court of Sweden. Edward, the issue of this marriage, married Mary, the daughter and co-heiress of Thomas Greene of Norlands, and thus became Burnaby of Norlands in right of his wife. Edward, the son and heir of this marriage, my grandfather, added the name of Greene to that of Burnaby, an addition which has been retained by his descendants. I must not omit to state that the John Burnaby who married Clara daughter of Sir Edward Wood was my grandfather's grandfather, and further, that in a document in my possession, which must have been written towards the middle of the eighteenth century, he speaks of John de Burnaby, Prior of Durham, as his collateral ancestor.

John Burnby is stated in the proceedings connected with his election to the Prior's stall to have been "liber, et de libero legitimoque matrimonio procreatus." These words, however, have no reference to the worldly rank or consequence of his parents, but to his own canonical fitness for the office to which he had been elected.

Of the precise year in which Burnby entered the monastery of Durham as a novice in the cloister no record has been preserved. That he studied there in his boyhood is certain from his after-history. In due time he became an inmate of Durham College in Oxford, a monastic foundation chiefly for the benefit of young men who were afterwards to become monks of Durham, but educating at the same time within its walls a few north-country scholars, nominated by the Prior of Durham, who were afterwards to mix with the world. On the 18th September, 1425, having then graduated, and having become a monk of the Benedictine profession, he was appointed co-bursar of his college, in conjunction with Thomas Forster; but that he was then a young man is certain, as his name is not mentioned in 1416 among those monks of Durham who were entitled from their standing to a vote upon the election of Prior Wessington in that year. On the 7th October, 1431, he, in conjunction with the same Forster, received the appointment of Confessor in his College.* In January, 1437-8, he is described as a Bachelor of Divinity, and as not having been present in the Chapter House at Durham at the election of Bishop Neville. On the 14th August, 1442, as Professor of Divinity (Sacræ Paginæ Professor), having been previously Sub-Prior at home, he was appointed by the Prior and Convent of Durham to be Prior or Warden of his College; and in this capacity, in the beginning of the year 1445, he refused to admit as a scholar a youth presented by the Prior of Durham, at the request of the great Newcastle merchant Roger Thornton, upon the plea that the vacant scholarship was appropriated to Northallertonshire; but the Prior wrote a strong letter of remonstrance requiring him to admit Thornton's nominee "prout nostram quietem diligitis," a pretty strong intimation of Thornton's influence; and there is no further mention of the matter in the Register.* But further honours awaited the future Prior of Durham. On the 1st June, 1444, Burnby, then stiled "magister, commo-nachus et confrater, sacræ paginæ professor," was appointed to represent the monastery of Durham in the Provincial Council of the Benedictine Order to be held during the summer at Northampton, and again on the 1st June 1447 he received a similar commission for a like purpose. In 1447, and again in 1449, he was one of the Commissioners for fulfilling the office of Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford. In 1450, still holding the office of Warden of Durham College, he was appointed, in conjunction with William Seton a fellow-monk, to visit the Benedictine Monasteries* in the county of York, and in the same year he once more represented his mother Convent of Durham in the Council at Northampton. About this period he seems to have resigned his Wardenship, to which, however, he was re-appointed on the 30th September, 1453.† In 1456 he was elected Prior of Durham upon the resignation of Prior William Ebchester; and dying on the 17th October,

* The monasteries were—St. Mary's York, Selby, Whitby, and Monk Bretton. The Prior of Durham had been constituted Visitor for the year by the Council at Northampton, and he appointed Burnby and Seton to act in his stead.

† The appointment is as follows. It is, perhaps, worthy of being made public.

Prefeccio Magistri Johannis Burnbie in priorem sive custodem Collegii in Oxon. Reg. iii. parv. 64 b.

Willelmus, permissione Divina, Prior Ecclesiæ Cath. Dunelm. dilecto confratri nostro Magistro Johanni Burnby, Sacræ Paginæ Professori, salutem in omnium Salvatore. De vestræ circumspeccionis industria plenam in Domino fiduciam obtinentes, vos in priorem sive custodem Collegii nostri Oxon. tenore presencium, preficimus et creamus, et ad gubernandum et disponendum dictum Collegium cum omnibus et singulis ad idem Collegium, tam infra quam extra, qualitercunque pertinentibus, necnon ad regulandum confratres monachos et seculares scolares, ipsosque scolares seculares castigandum, ac, suis exigentibus demeritis, secundum discrecionem vestram, cum consilio fratrum nostrorum ibidem studencium, de sepedicto Collegio penitus expellendum, plenam vobis committimus potestatem. Omnibus igitur et singulis tam fratribus nostris quam scolaribus secularibus de memorato Collegio injungimus et mandamus, quod vobis, tanquam priori seu custodi, de et in omnibus et singulis premissis, quantum ad eos pertinet, obediant et intendant. In cujus, &c. sigillum nostrum, &c. Dat. Dunelm. ult. Sept. Mcccc quinquagesimo tercio.

1464, was buried on the following day* “under a faire marble stone, pictured in brass from the waiste up, beneth the north door, in the mydest of the church, not much distant from the Marble Cross, with his verses or epitaph adjoyninge thereto.”†

Of this epitaph no copy has been preserved. The stone itself, deprived of its brasses, may at present be seen as a common paving stone between two adjacent pillars on the south side of the nave. The “verses” have been numerous.

To the principal Record in the history of Prior Burnby a place is assigned in the Appendix No. IX., in a somewhat abridged form, it may be, but retaining all the essential parts of the original—the proceedings in the Chapter House upon his election to the Priorate of Durham. The various modes of proceeding in capitular elections, whether of bishops or priors, are sufficiently explained in the “Hist. Dunelm. Scriptores Tres,” published by this Society (pp. 36 and 38). In the present case the form agreed upon was that per scrutinium, and hence arose all the bustle and intrigue of a contested election, contested in every sense of the word, and conducted with such a minuteness of proceeding that we have the name of every monk who voted on the occasion, together with the name of the candidate to whom he tendered his suffrage. A contested election in the middle of the fifteenth century, the candidates monks, the voters monks, the scruta-tors monks, and the very poll-book, the result of which conferred upon the successful candidate the mitre and staff of ecclesiastical superiority, are novelties to the archæologist of no ordinary curiosity and interest.

It appears that in that year there were in all seventy-one monks belonging to the Church of Durham, stationed at home or in its subordinate cells. Of this number all except two voted in person or by proxy. The persons nominated for the vacant chair were—John Burnby, Professor of Theology, Warden of Durham College, Oxford; Richard Bell, Bachelor of Theology, Sub-Prior, Terrar, and Hostillar of the Convent; William Seton, Chancellor, Almoner, and Official; Thomas Ayre, Prior of Finchale; and William Ebchester, the late Prior, who had resigned his office on account of his infirmities.* Seton had four votes, Ayre one, and the ex-Prior one, that of Bell, who was determined, as it appears, to give his support to none of his competitors. The contest was in reality between Burnby and Bell, and the former gained the election by a majority of thirteen votes. The poll at its close stood as follows: Burnby thirty-eight, Bell twenty-five,† Seton four, Ebchester one, Ayre one. The scruples of the Prior elect before he would consent to take

* In the Bishop's licence to elect a successor, Ebchester is stated to have been a professed monk for the long period of fifty years. According to his epitaph, he died in the year of his resignation.

† Bell, who at the time of this election was about 46 years of age, became the next Prior of Durham upon the death of Burnby, without opposition. That he was an ambitious man, is proved by his subsequent history. For many particulars concerning him, before and after the above contest, until he became Bishop of Carlisle, and carried off upon himself the office are amusing ; but in all probability there was more in them of formality than reluctance.*

We may now proceed to make a few preliminary remarks upon the nature of such documents as that here presented to the reader.

In the year 1825 was published a Catalogue of the Manuscripts belonging to the Cathedral Church of Durham, in which was inserted by the Editor of the present volume, in his capacity of Librarian, a brief, and in some respects incorrect, description † of the Obituary or Bede Roll which is here printed and from Durham much silver plate, &c. which did not belong to him, but to the Convent, see "The Priory of Finchale," Pref. xxviii. &c. To that account it may be added, that in 1473 and 1474 he is proved by one of the Durham Registers to have been trafficking with the see of Rome through the Archbishop of Rouen, his friend, for the next avoidance of the see of Chichester; and in the third Reg. Parv. or Private Register, p. 156, there is a long letter from him to his proctor at Rome, speaking unreservedly of the ducats to be expended upon the Archbishop and others to gain his object.

* See in the "Hist. Tres Dunelm." App. p. cccxxxix. the Bishop of Durham's Letters Testimonial "super confirmatione Electionis Johannis Burnby Prioris Dunelm." which completed the election and put the newly-chosen Prior in possession of his dignity, with all its rights and privileges.

† The statement in the Catalogue that the Roll was entrusted to one or more monks of the house has been found to be a mistake ; the bearer was a layman. The monasteries visited were not 623 but 639; and, as it will be observed in the sequel, there are more modes of expressing the obligation and prayer contained in the verse "Vestris nostra damus, pro nostris vestra rogamus," than two.

illustrated by notices of the other documents of a like nature preserved in the Treasury or Muniment Room of the Dean and Chapter.

Records of this nature do not appear to have excited the attention of the ecclesiastical antiquary before the publication of the Catalogue above alluded to. Since that time, however, portions of two other Obituary Rolls have been brought to light, the first referring to the death of an Abbot of West Dereham, by Mr. J. G. Nichols;* the second to that of a Bishop of Ely, by Mr. Albert Way.† When the original and important information afforded by the following pages is added to the very judicious remarks on the subject of prayers for the dead prefixed by Mr. Nichols and Mr. Way to their respective papers, there will be not much further necessity for inquiry into that custom, as it prevailed in England for the two or three centuries which preceded the dissolution of religious houses; and it will probably appear that such Obituary Rolls, for whatever solemn purpose they might have been circulated and believed to be efficacious at earlier periods, had degenerated into little more than a form, complied with in a careless way, and that they were carried from place to place, not by an ecclesiastic, but by an illiterate layman, who made of them his livelihood, being frequently employed at the very same time, and for a similar purpose, by other monasteries, and living upon the alms of the houses which he visited during the period to which he was limited by his licence.* The title of this functionary was here at Durham that of Breviator, but he was known by other names, such as Brevigerulus, Rotuli Portitor, Rolliger, Brevium Portitor, &c. &c.; and the document committed to his care consisted of a roll of parchment, added to from time to time as need required, and called in the following pages by various names, such as Lamentatio, Commendatio, Planctus, Suffragiorum Peticio, Suffragiorum Supplicacio, &c. written in a highly eulogistic and pompous style, and occasionally, in addition to much matter of a general nature, containing, as in the case of Bishop Skirlaw, much personal history and an enumeration of many acts of munificence on the part of the deceased which were deemed worthy of record. To this Breve, or by whatever other name it was called, was in all probability, in every single instance, prefixed an ornamental heading. One only of these headings remains at Durham, but there are distinct traces of stitches and adsuition at the head of every other Roll, the result of such an addition. Of this remaining heading more will be said in the sequel, as there is reason to believe that it served upon more than one occasion, or at all events that it was not painted for the Roll to which it is now affixed, but for one of an earlier date.

* I have seen no proof among its records that salaries were paid by the Convent of Durham to its roll-bearers. The licences contain no such stipulation, but, on the contrary, there is invariably an express recommendation of the traveller to the charitable consideration of others. That this recommendation was attended to is singularly proved by an Account Roll for 1424-5 of John de Yaxham, Keeper of the Shrine of St. Etheldreda at Ely. I translate the entry:—"Paid to a Brief-Bearer of Durham 1*d*." Orig. Roll at Ely.

The object of these circulars, if we may use the term, was to procure for the soul of the deceased person upon whose death they were respectively issued, the prayers of the religious fraternities to whom they might be presented, that it might be delivered by their intercessions from the pains of purgatory, an engagement being entered into by the petitioners to make a suitable requital by similar acts of prayer and intercession when need should arise. It is worthy of notice, however, that we have no record of any specific reciprocal obligation in favour of any departed member of another monastery during the period embraced by the following pages, although such pledges and promises were repeatedly made, and that too for the purpose of periodical commemoration.* That such pledges were given is as certain as that Roll-bearers from other houses presented themselves duly at Durham in their rounds.† Did the monks at Dur-

* Upon one of the inner backs of the third Register is recorded, by way of form, the very Titulus or form of obligation in use at Durham, when a Roll-bearer from another monastery presented himself to obtain its prayers. It does not differ from that in use in other places. "*Titulus iste scribendus est in Rotulis Breviatorum—Titulus Ecclesiæ Cath. Dunelm. B. Mariæ semper Virg. et S. Cuthberti presulis, Ord. S. Ben. ham content themselves in their later days with merely once reciting, at their next general day of obit, the name of the person for whose soul they had undertaken to pray, and then throw it aside as useless for the future, or has their later obituary disappeared? More than one early Durham obituary, containing the names of persons to be prayed for on stated days, has been published by this Society.

The documents on the subject of monastic intercession for the dead here presented to the public, most of them referring to the church of Durham, and all of them printed by the obliging permission of the Dean and Chapter from the originals in their possession, consist of the Obituary Roll * commemorative of Wil-actual Rolls presented at Durham, and placed upon record for imitation.

* Of the other Rolls, &c. printed in the Appendix, a general description is given in their respective places. Of this a more minute account is required in illustration of its peculiar character and embellishments. It commences with an ornamental heading in three compartments, delineating the Judgment, Death-Bed, and Sepulture of a deceased Prior, painted in colours once brilliant beyond measure, and still, notwithstanding the many thousands of times which it must have been unrolled and exposed to view, retaining much of its original character for vividness and beauty. The three pictures are contained on one membrane of vellum, but, for the sake of convenience and the size of our volume, in the accompanying fac-similes they are reduced into three compartments of one-half the size of the originals. Of the various subjects of each embellishment it does not fall within the province of the Editor to give any detailed account in the way of explanation. They are all full of meaning, and will not fail to attract the notice and consideration of the ritualist or the monastic historian. One or two remarks only may be made. The demi-figure mitred, but otherwise naked, ascending from the death-bed, is intended to represent the soul of the prior, which has just departed from his body, and the Bishop and King who are standing ready to receive it in its ascent are St. Cuthbert and King Oswald. To the upper end of the painting is affixed a wrapper composed internally of linen cloth, with an outside of strong calf-leather, of the length of 2 feet 7 inches by $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches in breadth, and, like the Dereham Roll, tapering to a point, to which has been affixed a strong thong of leather to secure the whole when in its rolled-up state. The breadth of the painting is $8\frac{3}{4}$ inches by 2 feet $10\frac{1}{2}$ inches in length, consisting of one membrane of parchment not written on the back like the rest of the roll. The surface of the painting has been protected by a loose covering of red or brick-coloured silk, portions of which remain, and there are proofs, both at its upper and lower termination, that it was not executed in commemoration of either of the two Priors (Ebchester or Burnby), but had been used on a previous occasion, probably for the Roll of Prior Hemmingborough hereafter mentioned. The illumination is succeeded by the Breve itself, the membrane of which measures only $8\frac{1}{8}$ inches in breadth, the length of the lines or writing being not quite six inches. The first membrane, on the head of which stands the Breve, is 2 feet 6 inches in length. The succeeding membranes decrease in length one after another, and after the eleventh, with one exception, in breadth also. The twelfth skin begins with a breadth of $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches. At the fourteenth the width is $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The fifteenth $6\frac{3}{4}$ inches, and the eighteenth measures only $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches in length, by 5 in breadth. That there has been at least one additional membrane is proved by the thread which remains. The whole Roll, including the wrapper, is 41 feet in length, and its respective portions are attached to each other by blue or white thread in a coarse way, with no regard for neatness.

So early as the year 1362 Bishop Hatfield had obtained from the Prior and Convent of Durham a licence to be buried eventually in the Cathedral. (Hist. Tres, Appx. No. cxxi. See also No. cxxviii. for a letter from the Bishop to the same body, begging their prayers.)

as have been granted from time to time by the Church of Durham as credentials to Brief-bearers in behalf of the souls of its deceased members, the reader will then be in possession of all the information on this subject which the Treasury of the Dean and Chapter can supply. That list is as follows: but it must be stated that in general the licence does not set forth the name of the deceased person in whose favour it was granted—that was left to be gathered from the Breve at the head of the Roll, entrusted to the bearer; and further, that in every instance the duration of the licence was specified in the document itself, for reasons which will by and by perhaps appear not doubtful. The licence was given up when the duty was performed, and the bearer then became at liberty to enter into a new engagement with the Church of Durham or any other fraternity. Not fewer than six of those mentioned below, soiled and crumpled by daily exhibition, are preserved in the Treasury.

1. The first licence upon record is granted to Peter de Houden, in 1312, for one year, and is as follows. It will be observed, as has been already stated, that each convent is desired to pay charitable attention to the bearer. Under these words is conveyed a request that he should be duly supplied with the necessaries of which he might stand in need.

2. The second, in 1343, to Robert de Angreton, for two years, must also be printed, as it tells us more of the object which was contemplated, and is in general the type of those by which it is succeeded.

In order to account for such a number of licences during the period over which they extend, it must be observed that they were not confined to the deaths of bishops and priors, but were issued for the supposed spiritual benefit of deceased brethren and benefactors, whose names were inserted in smaller Rolls,* none of which are however now preserved at Durham. It moreover appears that the same traveller was at one and the same time acting for more than one monastery, each of which in its licence committed him to the charitable consideration of the houses which he should visit, and prayed for him, in intelligible terms, meat and drink to help him on his way; so that in reality, as it would appear, brief-bearing was a profession—it was a livelihood. To give two instances: John Leemaker,† within two months after his engagement for two years to the church of Durham in 1417, entered into a like engagement with the monks

* App. p. 103, 104, 105.

† This is plainly a nick-name, John the Lies-maker, or as in the Furness licence, by a mode of expression which decides the point, John by name the Lies-maker. No doubt the man, if he had long followed the trade, would have many marvellous tales to tell of what he had seen in his travels. Credit, however, does not appear to have been given him for telling what was perhaps only the truth.

of Furness for the same period,* and travelled with at least two Rolls under his arm. John Cawood, another traveller, appears to have been at one and the same time the bearer of not fewer than three.†

That itinerants of this nature and for such purposes were, at a much earlier period than that before us, considered a great nuisance is proved by some highly satirical verses on the subject written towards the end of the eleventh century by Baudre abbot of Bourgueil, who speaks of them as voracious vultures, black ravens, owls hooting a dire omen to mortals, &c. &c. The passage is given below, from Dr. Rock's "Church of our Fathers," vol. ii. p. 385,‡ as quoted by him from Duchesne, iv. 253.

A few general remarks may now be made upon the Rolls themselves, and the leading features which they present to the reader.

The entry or Titulus, containing a statement of the order, dedication, &c. of each monastery, as it was visited in its turn, was unquestionably written by one of its own members, probably by the Precentor, who in one instance gives the initials of his name with that of his office (p. 41); and in general the character of the handwriting serves as a proof of the opulence of the house; but this indication must not always be relied upon, many of the cathedral churches themselves frequently exhibiting a wretched scrawl unworthy of their rank and endowment. Not unfrequently two or three entries in succession are in precisely the same hand (p. 4, &c. &c. &c.), as if such houses, being near to each other, maintained a common scribe. One writer excuses his bad penmanship by subjoining the words “scriptum in hast” (p. 88). Others give their name at length, or their initials (9, 25, 35, 39, 41, 43, 67, 70, 82, 83, 85, 89);* and occasionally we have a rebus or device affording that information, p. 68. Of the letter T, the initial of the word Titulus, and its accompanying declaration, we have every possible variety, from the merest scrawl to the elaborate penmanship of which specimens are given referring to the Abbey of Tutesbury and the Priory of Tynemouth. Many of these highly-finished initials contain shields of arms (31, 80, 85) and in the later Rolls some appear to be imitations from designs in contemporary manuscripts, which are not always copied with fidelity. This seems to be the case of the T in the title of Bruton, p. 82, and in other instances which it would be tedious to enumerate.

* The Prayer of Thomas de Snayth of Bardney in behalf of his poorly executed initial (p. 89) is amusing. The Hulne Verses (p. 64) are also interesting as recording the date of its foundation. The Bordesley verse at p. 80, will not fail to attract the notice of the reader. But what is the precise meaning of the memorandum made by the Watton scribe, p. 79? “Ad desiderium istius brevigerulus distortus in sua conditione facta.” It is difficult to deal with such latinity; does it mean that some accident had befallen the roll-bearer, and that in this instance a deputy was acting in his stead? Sempringham (the editor is reminded of this by the Titulus of Watton in the page referred to) is in all these documents invariably written without the letter r.

In a majority of instances the diocese in which the monastery was situated is stated,* and in a very few cases the county (p. 43, 84.) Once or twice we meet with a date, and in general the route of the traveller can be traced from house to house. The verse "Vestris nostra damus," &c. is the prevalent termination of each entry, but there is frequently a variation (13, 61, 83, &c. &c.): sometimes there is no verse at all. The other departures from the usual form will be easily perceived by the reader, such as the mention of one Prior only in the double Roll (p. 16 and frequently) the surnames of both omitted (p. 3, 14, 27) and both name and surname omitted altogether (p. 4, 6, &c. &c.) and then again the strange latinity which may now and then be met with, and the mixture of Latin and English which occasionally presents itself, especially in p. 18, No. 243, all savouring of want of care or gross ignorance in the writer. The phrase "Si qua nobis," &c. (4, 55, 65, &c. &c.) is an earnest appeal to the feelings for those devotional services of which the deceased was believed to stand in need. The prayer almost uniformly met with on our mediæval gravestones—"Cujus animæ, &c. occurs only once (p. 11), and in one instance only the title is written in red ink, but a red colour is not unfrequently used in ornamenting the initial. The academical degree of the deceased Prior is occasionally mentioned in the Roll (p. 15, 35, &c.)

From the titles themselves, when written with care, as is generally the case, it is probable that an attentive reader may be able to make many additions to his Tanner's Notitia Monastica, and not a few corrections. But they are not always written with care. To say nothing of the mixture of Latin and English, which now and then occurs, and the wretched latinity which frequently presents itself to notice, in many instances we have the name of the Monastery only, without any mention of its order or dedication (p. 7, 10, 14, &c. &c.) and there are numerous other palpable and grave mistakes against which the inquirer must be upon his guard. And then again with respect to the names of some of those for whose benefit the Rolls were put into circulation, there is not only every variety of spelling, a matter calculated perhaps to excite little surprise, considering the period, but in very numerous instances a positive departure altogether from any thing like the real name of the deceased. Such is the gross negligence which the Rolls frequently manifest in this point of view that, supposing a copy to have been taken by each monastery of the engagement into which it had entered for the purpose of carrying that engagement into execution, it would have become its business to pray for the souls of Durham dignitaries who had positively never existed at all. A few instances may be sufficient. The surname of Prior Burnby, after every possible variety of the word with any resemblance to it in reality, is converted into Burnly, Buryly, Buruli, Bourneley, Burnabury, Buribi, Burnburi, Burby, Burbyn, Birunbi, Bornenbur, &c. &c. The surnames of the two Priors William and Robert Ebchester are still more strangely treated. That of the former is written Ewchester, Euchester, Obchester, Eglhestre, Eglester, with not unfrequently the Christian name of John; that of the latter Colchester, Elchester, Suchester, Obghester, Chechester, &c. &c.; and to make the matter worse, the Christian name Robert is repeatedly made to give place to that of John, and in one instance to that of Benedict. In truth, with respect to this second dignitary, there is perhaps no other way of accounting for the Roll commencing on p. 82, than by a supposition that a second was issued (p. 73) to remedy its blunders.

In all these instances there is in general some adumbration of the names of the parties; but what account can be given of such mistakes as the following?

Instead of the names of Priors Ebchester and Burnby, we have Robert Sutton and Magister Sutton (p. 7); and again, John Ascu and Marjory his wife (p. 7); John Abbot of Humberston (p. 8): William Baset, Michael Tys, and Thomas Herford (p. 10);

Richard Bekwyth and Richard Hamyrton (p. 19); Stephen Morpeth once, and John Arundell and eight other names twice (p. 22); Richard Borow and John Person (p. 24); John Weston (p. 29); John Schrowsbury Prior of Fareley (p. 41). In the Roll of Skirlaw, in addition to the name of the Bishop, we have that of Nicholas de Byrby Abbot of Caldre (p. 58), and instead of it John de l'Cote (p. 59), and Lucy the Prioress, &c. &c. (p. 60). Prior Hemmingborough's Roll is equally remarkable for its mistakes. The name of William Scott, a Friar Minor, is added to that of the Prior, and Thomas Abbot of Crowland is struck out (p. 65.) See also page 68. In page 69 we have William Abbot of Thornton and John Prior of Greseley. In page 70, in addition to the name of John de Schirborne Abbot of Selby, there are four names with which the Roll had no connection whatever. But the Rolls of Robert Ebchester still more abound with blunders. It may suffice to refer to page 76, in which there are not fewer than four instances of mis-entry; and also to pages 82 twice, 83, 85, 86, 88 twice, 90, and 94. Others may have been passed over.

These erroneous entries may perhaps be accounted for in one or other of two ways. We have seen that the same traveller had frequently various Rolls entrusted to his care. The mistakes may have arisen from entering in one Roll the theme or subject of another by mere hearsay, the writer not giving himself the trouble to read the preceding entry for his guidance. Or various Roll-bearers (the country swarmed with them)* may have met at the same monastery, each on a different errand, for the souls of laymen or clerks, and whilst they were feasting in the guest-hall, the precentor, or whoever the writer may have been, may have performed his task in their absence, and may have mistaken one Roll for another, again acting heedlessly and upon mere hearsay. The corrupt spelling of names, as in Burnby, Ebchester, &c., may perhaps be more easily explained. It is probable that in general the Roll was unfurled from its lower end; and if this were the case, and the bearer himself, supposing him to be present, unable to read or write, but merely pronouncing the name, it is not to be wondered at that when once a mistake of this sort had been committed it might be repeated or varied in a multiplicity of ways. At all events, enough has perhaps been said in proof that the whole business was conducted with extreme carelessness and with a feeling savouring in general of anything rather than of devotion or a decent pious regard for the purpose for which such mutual obligations had been entered into at an earlier period of the Church, and had been believed to be efficacious.

The contents of the other Documents in the Appendix have been already alluded to and explained, either in this Preface or in their respective places; but with respect to the Letters of Fraternity a few further remarks may be here made in addition to the general statement in p. 106. It was perhaps the case that at an earlier period money was given for this privilege, especially by the laity, but there is every probability that the greater part of those noticed in the Appendix were granted by way of compensation for past favours, in many of them it is so stated in express terms, and that not a few were conceded with an eye to the future. Names occur in the list of men who would probably not think it expedient to spend their money in such a way, and there are others who, if we are rightly informed of their character by history, would not attach much value to the privilege.

* “ Cum yelut examen rotulorum venerit ad nos, Mortem non vitam rotulus mihi nunciat omnis.”

PRIORS OF DURHAM.^a

UNIVERSIS Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, Ricardus, permissione Divina prior ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelmensis, et ejusdem loci Conventus, facie ad faciem magestatis gloriam in terra vivencium finaliter speculari. Divini precepti transgressio primos parentes originalis peccati vulnere sic sauciavit, ut ex hoc in Adæ filios, heu! penam duplæ mortis traduxit; quæ nisi per simplam Christi mortem nunquam redempta fuisset. O quam gloriosa mors Christi, in qua baptizati sumus, qui in Christum credimus, et purgati spe salutis salvi facti sumus! “preciosa quoque in conspectu Domini mors sanctorum ejus.”^b Quo contra mors peccatorum pessima, et cum non sit homo, qui non videbit mortem, timor ejus utique ex primo crimine humano cadebat lamentabiliter super omnes. Nos, igitur, istorum sanctorum patrum exemplo imitati, propter fatum nostrorum patrum in lacrimosa lamenta cogimur inire, videlicet venerabilium patrum magistri Willelmi Ebchestyr et magistri Johannis Burnby, nuper loci nostri Priorum, et supernaturalis theoriæ doctoratus culmine decoratorum. Qui piissime semper affecti, caritate ut fratres, benignitate ut patres, cura ut seniores, et reverencia ut juniores, nostrum latus quondam tutissime sepiebant. ^a This Title is entered upon the Roll out of its place. For instance, when the Breviator reached Westminster Abbey in the course of his progress, the scribe of that monastery, unwilling to take the trouble of unfurling the Roll, made his entry upon the blank space between the Breve itself and the general heading or theme, the Anima, &c. which follows. Other scribes have in like manner, to save themselves trouble, availed themselves of the small space which occasionally occurs between previously made entries. Such misplaced Tituli are printed in brackets.

^b This is the usual form of entry. Any material deviation will be duly noted.

^c These asterisks are adopted to designate the character or handwriting of the entry. One asterisk denotes a fair, legible hand; two, one of a superior character; and three imply not only an excellent hand, but an ornamented initial in the word Titulus with which the entry commences. These ornamented letters are generally made with the pen, and are seldom coloured. The absence of an asterisk implies a very humble style of penmanship.

I. LAMENTACIO SIVE PLANCTUS IN LAUDEM RADULFI PRIORIS.^a (OB. 1233-4.)

(Ex Rot. Orig. Loc. 1.)

SANCTÆ matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, humilis Dunelmensis ecclesiæ conventus salutem. Vox turturis audita est in terra nostra,^b vox enim meroris et tristitiæ; vox tribulacionis et . . . gustiæ; vox lugubris et lacrimosa; vox lamentabilis et luctuosa in nostra diebus istis audiv . . . ecclesia, quæ vere vocem habens turturis pro cantu gemitum emittentis parem perditum irrecuperabiliter pl . . . , suspensis organis leticiæ, in lamentationem mutato carmine, parem ac sponsum suum leg . . . spiritualis sibi quondam conjugii connectione copulatum nuper ex hac luce subtractum, inco . . . bili nimirum deplorat querimonia. Si enim Rachel nostra ploratu et ululatu multo plangit filios . . . , singulos, videlicet subditos per mortis sibi gladium quasi ad tempus ereptos, sicut dicit ethnicus, quis matrem nisi mentis inops in funere nati flere vetat? non hoc illa monenda loco est. Merito lugebit præ anxietate nimia, ipso propagatore munitore pariter ac tutore filiorum orbata. Facta est enim quasi vidua domina gentium. Nunquam a piis lacrimis continere poterit sancta mater ecclesia, columpnis ipsius corruentibus, bonis scilicet ecclesiæ prelatis mortis impulsu mundo deficientibus, qui vice colump . . . eam diligenti ac circumspecta rerum exteriorum provisione corporaliter sustentabant, et salutaribus do . . . nis et exemplis ipsam interius spiritaliter roborabant. Talis siquidem columpna extiterat venerabilis memoriæ Radulfus, quondam Prior Dunelmensis ecclesiæ, ita ut in commendacionem ipsius p . . . veraciter proferre quod scripsit Ecclesiasticus in laudem Symonis filii Oniæ, videlicet quod in vita sua . . . fulsit domum et in diebus suis corroboravit templum.^c Ipse enim sic erat columpna immobilis, per immobilem inter adversa et prospera mentis constantiam, ita quod nec extolleretur prosperis nec frangeretur adversis; immo in omnibus essent tenebræ adversitatis ejus sicut et lumen prosperitatis ejus. Habuit etiam columpnæ nostræ basim profundæ humilitatis, capitellum excellentis et eximiæ caritatis. Iste etiam ad modum columpnæ suffulsit, domum suam provida dispensatione exteriora procurando corroboravit, templum doctrina pariter et exemplo ad virtutum spiritualium fortitudinem invitando. In exteriorum administracione vicem illam erga subditos observabat, quam pelles et cilicia in templo erga crocum byssum et jacinctum exhibebant. Pelles enim et cilicia, ne byssi candorem pluvia denigraret, ne croci seu jacincti splendorem pulvis obfuscaret, exterius ab ymbre et vento et pulvere defendebant. Similiter et ipse pulverem laborum temporalium exteriora procurando perferebat, ut subditi a tali occupacione inermes et liberi candorem contemplacionis non amitterent, ne sponsa, quæ mentis pedes lavit, rursum per terrenarum rerum implicationem eos inquinaret; ne Mariæ ocium Marthæ labor inquietaret, sed potius talia dedignando diceret cum sponsa in Canticis, "Lavi pedes meos quomodo inquinabo eos?"^a Licet tamen pellis aut cilicii texturam subditis exhiberet, byssi tamen candorem in mentis innocentia retinebat. Crocum seu jacinctum se in splendore contemplacionis in puritate oracionis ostendebat. Adeo enim mentem in orationis devotionem suspendere consuevit quasi sic semper suspendi exoptaret. Immo molestus ei videretur quicumque eum a sompno contemplacionis ad exteriora negocia providenda excitaret. Et cum prolixitas in oratione, maxime carnalibus sive terrenis mentibus, fastidium parere dicatur, ipse tamen eo ferventius quo prolixius animum in preces effudit. Devotio quippe, tanquam salsa gratissima, orationem condiebat, quam solam habentibus omnis oratio dulcis videtur et sapida, solis autem ea carentib' . . . insipida et fastidiosa. Nunquid enim (sicut dicitur in Job) potest comedi insulsum, quod non est sale devotionis conditum.^b Est enim devotio manna illud absconsum de quo habetur in Apochalipsi, quod nemo scit nisi qui accipit. Tales enim sunt spirituales deliciæ, quæ, sicut dicit Gregorius, cum non habentur, in fastidio sunt, cum autem habentur in desiderio. Set, ut oratio ipsius libero volatu celum penetraret, jejunii attenuationem et elemosinæ largitionem quasi geminas alas adjunxit. In jejuniorum siquidem afflictione tantam erga propriam carnem pretendebat severitatem, ut in cotidiana refectioe sic alimenta sumeret ut medicamenta. Noverat quippe quod sepe sub optentu necessitatis, quasi pedissecæ, ingerit se voluptas, et dum putat quid quis (sic) indulgere necessitati deservit voluptati. Propterea, ut foveam voluptatis penitus evitaret, circa limites necessitatis temperanter alimenta percipere studebat. Nec suffecerat viro tanta jejuniorum afflictione carnem interius edomare, verum etiam exterius exasperavit ciliciis, disciplinarumque attrivit flagellis stigmata passionis ipsius, qui attritus est propter scelera nostra, jugiter perferens in corpore suo, cum apostolo cilicium quousque ad diem resolutionis suæ, subtus ad carnem sollerti circumspectione ab humanis aspectibus occultans, ne thesauros domus regiæ cum Ezechia Babiloniis ostenderet, et sic offensam summi Regis incurreret. Eleemosinarum autem ipsius munificentiam, nobis tacentibus, pauperes Christi posteris temporibus celebri memoria divulgabunt. Omni enim petenti se tribuere juxta monitum sapientis satagebat. Quod mendicantes et egeni veraciter agnoscentes, alii largitatem viri in seipsis experti, alii fama liberalitatis ipsius fama promulgante incitati, ipso per aliquam urbem seu villam propter innumera domus sue negotia transitum faciente, non solum ejusdem urbis aut villæ set etiam adjacentes pauperes provinciæ, alii a tergo subsequentes, alii in occursum festinantes, adeo conglobati circa ipsum confluerent, ut vix ad peragendum iter inceptum sibi suisque præ multitudine pauperum transitus pateret. Sed nullo paupere vacuo prorsus abscedente, omnes jam occurrentes, quam qui præibant, quam qui sequebantur, clamarent dicentes "Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini." ^a Virum autem istum, sic se ut prediximus voluntarie flagellantem, ut flagellum eternæ dampnationis evitaret, apposuit ad huc Dominus ut flagellaret, grave ei morbi flagellum inmitens, ut sic perfectus a grano suo paleam excuteret, annutam ab oleo divideret, acetum a vino separaret. Ipse enim conflans et emundans argentum suum, ut purgaret electos suos, velut ad plenum et purum exquoquere scoriam suam, quam ex carnali commercio contraxerat, ut fieret de eo quod scriptum est "Christus purgavit peccata ipsius et exaltavit in eternum cornu illius." Tactus igitur infirmitate carnis pervalida, nec dum lecto decubans omni prelationis dignitati et honori prorsus renuncians, qui mundum antea mente contempserat solum carnis glebam mundo relinquens, utpote quo dignus non erat mundus, inter manus filiorum lugentium animam ipsius commendantium, anno Gratiae M^o. cc^o. xxx^o. iij^o., iij nonas Marcii, carnis onere deposito, spiritum emisit. Caritatem igitur vestram devotis precibus flagitamus, ut quoniam nullus, eo adhuc vivente, ut credimus, in mortuorum fidelium animabus Deo commendandis corporibus sepeliendis diligentior ac devotior extiterat, et propterea dignum esse videtur ut quod vivens mortuis studiose impendebat mortuus a vivis mutua vice recipiat, animam ipsius largitionibus eleemosinarum suffragiis orationum et aliis piis operibus Domino commendare velitis.

Then follow on the same sheet of parchment these verses, in a different but antient hand of great neatness, not much later than the Planctus itself. Their subject, whatever it may be, has of course no connection with the Roll on which they are written.

II. COMMENDATIO T. PRIORIS IN ROTULO BREVIATORIS. (OB. 1244.)

(Loc. 1.)

Sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, ad quos presentes litteræ pervenerint, humilis Conventus Dunelmensis ecclesiæ salutem eternam in Domino. Apud multorum noticiam, adhuc in carne leta et alacri prosperitate benevolentium, ex ipsa rerum gestarum recenti memoria, celebri fama divulgante, clarescere non dubitamus, qualiter ecclesia nostra retroactis temporibus plurimis vexationum flagellis fuerit afflicta, ac tribulationum agitata procellis. Verum, quantascunque anxietatum pressuras sevientis mundi nobis propinaverit asperitas, ecclesiæ nostræ navicula interdum impelli potuit, ac concuti, non conteri, non submergi, dum Prioris officio prefulgens, prioratus locum moribus ac ministerio Thomas prudenter ac fideliter adimplens, in puppis regimine presidebat, naviculam nostram contra horridos intumescents seculi fluctus in sua integritate dirigens et conservans incolumem. Sed ecce ventus vehemens irruit a regione deserti, carinam nostram repentina concussione commovens ac pene submergens, dum mors dura et calamitosa, mors previatura et prepropera, contrito gubernaculo gubernatorem prostravit ac precipitavit, ita ut jam facta sit ecclesia nostra quasi navis in medio mari, nec jam sopito sed extincto gubernatore et amisso clavo. In hujus quippe gubernatoris casu ac interitu lacrimabili tocius virtutis nostræ robur emarcuit ac fortitudo funditus est dissipata, lucerna leticiæ et exultacionis nostræ extincta est, ac splendor gloriæ nostræ miserabili commutatione in nubilum tristitiæ est conversus. Quorum enim tam ferrea corda aut adamantina precordia, ut audientes tantam columpnam tanta nobilitate conspicuam subito corruisse contritam fuisse ac comminutam, cum lacrimosis singultibus et suspiriis non ingemiscant, non obstupescantur, cum non sine admirationis stupore testentur plurimi, quibus mores et studia tanti viri plenius innotuere, se in uno homine mortali tot virtutum congeriem non repperisse? Nam inter florida etatis primordia, ut sobrietatis, pietatis et justiciæ, ceterarumque virtutum affectuosus esset amator ac emulator, quarum informationem intellectu capacis ingenii in Theologicæ studiis disciplinæ plenius antea perceperat, arridentis sibi mundanæ voluptatis et ^a Thread holes, and a portion of thread, at the termination of the sheet, prove that the above heading was followed by a list of monasteries which has been removed. It does not appear that it has been preceded by any ornamental or other heading.

vanitatis prorsus respuens, lenocinia quasi pallium relinquens meretrici Egipciæ, ex hujus mundi naufragio nudus evasit. Qui tocius perfeccionis viam in ipsa juvenilis etatis mollicie adhuc quasi propriæ fragilitatis et temeritudinis oblitus, virili animo confidenter aggrediens, infirmorum mentibus laudabile prestitit imitandæ virtutis exemplum, et ante perfectorum oculos pulcrum prebuit de arrepto virtutis culmine spectaculum. Apud posteros quoque, ex virtutum fragrantia et morum suavitate melliflua, futuris temporibus dulcissimam et jocundam reliquit memoriam, ita ut merito de ipso dicatur, memoria Thomæ in compositione odoris facta opus pigmentarii in omni ore, quasi mel indulcabitur ejus memoria, et ut musica in convivio vini.^a Virtutum igitur armatura vir iste munitus et animatus, scutum fidei infatigabiliter opponens, indesinentem usque ad exitum vitæ cum mundi principe gessit conflictum, ita ut non declinaret clipeus ejus in bello et hasta ejus non esset aversa. Sed quanto jucundior est de virtutum ejus preconiis recordatio, tanto, pro dolor! de tanti viri interitu lacrimabili tristior est relicta memoria nobis maxime miseris et omni solatio destitutis, utpote quibus solus extitit baculus sustentacionis, dum, ipso rei familiaris negocia procurante ac Marthæ vices in obsequio pauperum Christi fideliter agente, nichil umquam nobis in temporalibus defuit subsidiis. Inter ipsa tamen sedula et sollicita Marthæ laborantis ministeria dulcia et delicata Mariæ sedentis et auscultantis non defuerunt ei silentia. Inter varias etiam et maculosas exteriorum curarum occupationes, quæ plerumque perfectorum mentes feda solent obscenitate denigrare, fulgorem conscienciæ in sua sinceritate et serenitate conservavit illibatam; nec umquam propter nebulosos mundani favoris aut gloriæ popularis applausus a rigore regularis observantiæ aliquatenus declinavit, sed erat quasi arcus refulgens inter nebulas gloriæ temporalis, dum religionis maturitatem,^b quam quasi ad instar arcum intensum habuerat, inter adulatorias laudes non amisit, nec splendor conscienciæ ipsius aliqua potuit obfuscatione negociorum temporalium obtenebrari. Ipse enim lumen erat oculorum nostrorum desiderabile, dum luce doctrinæ ipsius illuminati callidas et astutas versuti hostis machinationes previdimus, et monitorum suorum munimine roborati mortiferas inimici suggestiones valida contritione ad petram allisimus. Dum enim, adhuc Thoma spirante, illuxerunt coruscationes virtutum ipsius orbi terræ, dulce erat nobis lumen doctrinæ ipsius et delectabile oculis intuentium ac imitantium intendere in ipsum affectu et imitatione, qui quasi quidam sol in aquilonali regione splendorem eximium emittens, ad instar solis desiderio supernorum exestuans, ac sapientiæ celestis luce coruscans vitæ laudabilis et admodum admirabilis exemplo et salutaris doctrinæ verbo, quasi quibusdam radiis celitus emissis, occiduas nationes illustrabat. Sed, heu! Thoma in robusta etatis adhuc plena valitudine ad mortis occasum properante, possumus gemendo dicere quam occidit nobis sol in meridie! O mors Thomæ! quam amara est nobis memoria tua, nam in diebus suis pacem habuimus undique et in circuitu, dum ipso doctore et ductore, tam contra spiritualium nequiciarum versutias, quam adversus impetuosos adversantis mundi tumultus, malorum timore sublato, securi permansimus et intrepidi, dum eo in temporalibus subsidiis ac exterioribus negotiis providendis et procurandis discurrente et laborante, in silentio et spe esset fortitudo nostra. Quievimus, et suavis erat nobis sompnus contemplativæ speculationis. In pace factus fuit locus noster et habitatio nostra in Syon. Sedimus interdum in plenitudine pacis et in tabernaculis fiduciæ et in requie opulenta. Sed ecce confractus est baculus confidentiæ nostræ, cujus nos firmitati commisimus, et lumen oculorum nostrorum desolationis nubilo est obtenebratum. Arcus fortitudinis nostræ infirmatus est et contritus, et tabernaculum fiduciæ nostræ demolitum est et dissipatum. Deducant igitur oculi nostri lacrimas per diem et noctem, et non taceant neque ab effusione lacrimarum uberrima quiescant. Quam contritione magna contrita est virgo filia Syon, videlicet ecclesia Dunelmensis, inter filias Syon olim illustris et inclita, nunc autem lamentabili merore confecta. Quam pupilli facti sumus absque patre, mater nostra quasi vidua tam preciosi conjugis orbata solatiis ac miserabiliter desolata. Vere defecit gaudium cordis nostri, versus est in luctum chorus noster, cecidit corona jocunditatis et leticiæ de cordibus nostris. Væ nobis, quia peccatis nostris imputamus et ascribimus tantæ dulcedinis tantæ jocunditatis et leticiæ miserandam ac perpetuis lugendam temporibus subtraccionem. Quid igitur dignum viro pro tot et tantis tam jocundis et mellifluis beneficiorum solatiis, quæ in hac vita ex uberibus consolationis ipsius in misericordia uberi percepimus, retribuere potuerimus? Certe in sacco et cilicio carnem nostram afflixerimus, et humiliaverimus in jejuniis animas nostras, si pulvere et cinere consperserimus capita nostra, et effuderimus, sicut aquam, corda nostra ante conspectum Domini Dei nostri ad exorandum pro viro supernæ miserationis clementiam pro meritis, non poterimus reddere unum pro mille. Ne tamen tantæ gratiæ, quam effudit in nos habunde, penitus simus ingrati, superhabundantem pluralitatis vestræ caritatem devoti confugimus, sub optentu divinæ misericordiæ humiliter exorantes, quatinus insufficientiæ nostræ defectus humeris eximiæ pietatis in hac parte supportare curantes, ad implorandam ei divinæ propiciacionis habundanciam pietatis operibus et devotis orationum suffragiis affectuosius insistatis, ut spiritus viri, multiplicatis orationum suffragiis, ad superna gaudia elevatus, felici commercio pro terrenis celestia, pro perituris eterna commutans, eternæ beatitudinis premia, quæ speravit et desideravit, feliciter optinere mereatur.^a

The first entry seems to have been "Titulus Ecc. . . . de Stanley, Anima Thomæ Prioris," which is partly cut through with a knife or scissors, and the remainder of the Roll is wanting.

^a The document is written in a bold clear hand. An ornamental heading has been attached by thread, portions of which remain in the parchment.

III. PLANCTUS IN LAUDEM ROBERTI EPISCOPI.^a (Ob. 1283.)

Universis Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, Ricardus Prior Dunelmensis Ecclesiæ et ejusdem loci conventus videre bona Domini in terra vivencium. Luxit et elanguit terra nostra, videlicet Dunelmensis ecclesia. Luxit quidem sui sponsi, legitimi domini, scilicet Roberti Episcopi, ex hac luce subtractionem. Luxit anxia suam ex hoc desolationem. Luxit tristissima suam viduacionem. Luxit sui defensoris absenciam. Luxit, quia sensit, ejus necessariam presenciam et vere necessariam, si sic placuisset Altissimo. Nam quam strenue eandem rexit, quam prudenter ipsam provexerit, quam infatigabiliter pro libertatibus ejusdem, non solum salvandis set eciam ampliandis, laboraverit, quam feliciter multa negocia, quantum permisit temporis malicia, consummaverit, quam viriliter contra adversarios dimicaverit, late quam plurimi norunt fidedigni. Nulli ergo mirum si luxerit, quia simul elanguit infirmata nimis præ tristicia, et debilitata præ angustia. Nam cum defensor ipsius corrui virtutis ejus robur emarcuit. Dum ergo talem in manibus luctum habuit non est mirum quod sic elanguit et infirmata tristis decubuit. Luxit tamen non sacris canonibus luctu prohibito, more videlicet eorum, qui morte suorum effecti pusillanimes, lugere solent desperantes, set pietatis affectu et humanitatis luxit intuitu, deplorans sibi subtractum, quia subtracti sensit dispendium. Subducto namque de medio tutore, relicta est quasi navis absque regimine in mediis procellis, adversantibus ventis contrariis, quæ vehementer contrita submersa fuisset nisi divina pietas eidem subvenisset, quæ juste suos angustiari sinit, set in angustiis nequaquam deserit. Sub spe itaque bona de consolatione futura lamentis parcendum est, et ad cepta revertendum. Igitur dominus Robertus Dunelmensis episcopus, de quo premisimus, cum longa carnis cum viciis et concupiscentiis crucifixione, jejuniis, videlicet, oracionibus assiduïs, ac vigiliis, corpus edomasset, superna nichilominus providencia, appropinquante vocacionis suæ tempore, per aliquot menses et dies corporali decoctus est infirmitate. Qui suam presenciam ex hoc mundo vocacionem, de illis, quæ ad ipsum pertinebant, rite disposuit, ac jugiter in laudibus divinis et graciæ accione perseverans, sacramentis salutaribus exitum suum premunivit, et inter manus filiorum suorum, monachorum scilicet Dunelmensium, plurimorum sibi assistencium, vij idus Junii, anno Domini M. cc. lxxx tercio, spiritum exalavit, et, ut firmiter credimus, obdormivit in Domino, ac in Capitulo Dunelmensi cum predecessoribus suis est honorifice tumulatus. Verum, licet sic decedentes ad beatorum consorcia perventuros sacra testetur scriptura, pro meritorum tamen diversitate soli Deo cognita, mortalibus ignota, quosdam cicius et quosdam paulo tardius hæc adepturos non dubitamus. Propter quod sacrorum canonum tradit sententia defunctorum animas vivencium oracionibus et pietatis operibus posse et debere relevari. Hinc est quod vestram caritatem, quanta possumus exoramus affeccione, quatinus ipsius animam oracionum vestrarum devotarum suffragiis ac operibus pietatis Domino commendare velitis.

^a At the head of the Roll are numerous needle-holes, indicating an illumination. The hand-writing is stately and elegant. The ordinary letters are nearly one quarter of an inch in height. In the initial U in the first word is the representation of a Bishop, episcopally vested, kneeling at an altar. He is attired in an alb, chasuble, and mitre, the colours of which are vividly expressed. The sacred vessels on the altar are covered by a cloth of gold.

(After an ornamental line of division are the following entries, in various hands, all of them partaking of the elegant character of the thirteenth century.)

1. Omnibus sanctæ matris Ecclesiæ filiis presentes litteras visuris vel audituris, Robertus, Miseracione Divina Ecclesiæ Dunblannensis minister humilis, salutem in Domino sempiternam. IV. LITERA BREVIATORIS (PRO THOMA HATTEFELDE EPISCOPO DUNELM.)

Venerabilibus patribus et amicis Sanctæ religionis viris, ad quos pervenerit hæc scriptura, Robertus, prior ecclesiæ cathedralis Dunelm. et ejusdem loci conventus, salutem, et caritatis mutuæ incrementum. Inter cetera pietatis opera credimus indubitanter fore precipuum, et Creatori nostro maxime gratum, illis optata solaminis subsidia conferre, qui decurso vitæ presentis tedio, extra statum meriti nunc positi, penas luunt in purgatorio pro commissis juventutis preteritæ, aliena suffragia devotissime flagitantes. Unde, quia sancta est et salubris cogitatio pro defunctis exorare, ut a peccatis solvantur, ut canit ecclesia, universitatem vestram reverendam, ad quorum noticiam literæ presentes pervenerint, ad hujus tam sanctæ tam immensæ devocionis studia, prout est moris antiquitus usitati, salubriter exorantes in Domino, mutuæ vicissitudinis optentu et gracia rogamus humiliter, quatinus animam bonæ memoriæ Thomæ, nuper Episcopi nostri, qui octavo idus Maii diem suum clausit extremum, et animas confratrum nostrorum, conversorum, familiarium et benefactorum nostrorum omnium in Christo quiescentium, quorum nomina lator presencium vobis presentabit, precibus vestris sacris recommendare velitis Altissimo, ut per oracionumstrarum devota suffragia consequi mereantur eternæ beatitudinis requiem, quam optarunt. Harum vero portitori, Johanni de P., nostro breviatori, cum ad vos declinaverit, quod humanitatis est exhibere velitis, caritatis intuitu, ut vestris in eventu consimili teneamur arcibus grata vicissitudine respondere. In cujus rei testimonium, presentibus, per triennium tantomodo duraturis, sigillum commune capituli nostri duximus apponendum. Dat. in capitulo nostro, octavo idus Octobris, Anno Domini Millesimo, ccc^mo octogesimo primo.^b

^a The Scolæ at York doubtless resembled the Scolæ at Durham; in which the subjects taught were reading, singing, and grammar, and those by one person appointed by the convent. But how comes it to pass that a school takes its place in a Bede Roll? In our early episcopal Registers there are frequent licences to beneficed clergy "adire scolas." Perhaps the services of such persons were called for on this occasion.

primos parentes originalis peccati vulnere sauciavit, et ex hoc in Adæ filios, heu! penam duplæ mortis traduxit, quæ nisi per simplam Christi mortem nunquam redempta fuisset. O quam gloriosa mors Christi! in qua baptizati sumus, qui in Christum credimus, et purgati spe salvi facti sumus. Preciosa quoque in conspectu Domini mors sanctorum ejus. Quo contra, mors peccatorum pessima, et cum non sit homo, qui non videbit mortem, timor ejus utique ex primo crimine humano, cadebat lamentabiliter super omnes. Dixit igitur vir sanctus Job, "timor mortis conturbat me." Item Propheta, "circumdederunt me dolores mortis." Quæ revera merito a cunctis mortalibus est plangenda in signum quod antiquorum patrum filii cum sua parentela diucius necem planxerunt paternam una cum populo sibi noto, sicut Joseph obitum sui patris et plebs Israelitica decessum Aaron sui pontificis, sicut patet Deutronomii ultimo C°. Itaque, propter fatum nostri presulis omnes cum tota nostra plebe currere cogimur in lamenta, videlicet domini Walteri Skyrlowe, pridem Coventrensis et Lichfeldrensis, ex post Bathensis et Wellensis, et tandem nostri Dunelmensis Episcopi, qui, velut alter Moyses, a fundacione primevæ nostræ ecclesiæ successit in jura regalia, per Reges Angliæ gratis dedita et concessa, eciam hactenus liberime usitata, quique in suo pastoralis regimine, ut verbis utamur magistri Petri Blesensis, in quadam sua epistola missa cuidam amico suo consolatoria super morte sui pastoris, Elegit eum Dominus in sacerdotem sibi, ut esset in populo ductor et doctor, ductor, inquam, in regali officio, doctor in sacerdocio; cui Dominus linguam dederat eruditam et habundanter cum Salamone spiritum sapientiæ et intellectus. Erat enim in judicio rectus, in precipiendo discretus, in loquendo modestus, in concilio circumspectus, in donando largissimus, in elemosinis effusus, in misericordia totus, prout sua verba et opera luce clarius ostenderunt. Suam nempe regaliā (sic) continue per ministros justos exercuit, nulli per injuriam nocuit, regna Angliæ et Franciæ per suam industriam persepe pacificavit, in arduis regni negociis providissime consuluit, ad profectum reipublicæ zelum intimum habuit, et quantum in eo fuerat, semper auxit: presulatum quoque suum per se et per viros discretos cum solercia summa rexit, verbum Domini frequenter predicavit, elemosinas dedit largissimas, nempe suis colonis solvere firmas suas impotentibus has remisit; Cantarias varias, scilicet apud Skyrlowe, ubi natus est, eciam apud magnam Aulam Universitatis Oxoniæ, sufficienter dotando fundavit, mansum novum pro vicariis et choristis Collegiatæ Ecclesiæ nostræ in Howden construxit, cuilibet ecclesiæ parochiali suæ Diocesis vestimentum integrum vivens dedit; ad Dormitorium nostri monasterii ruinosum, set jam, laus Deo, de novo constructum, necnon ad novum claustrum edificandum pecunias multas magnifice impartivit; singulis Cellis nostris infra suam Diocesim iiij^{or} libras donavit, et omni monacho Dunelmensi in suo obitu xx^{ti} solidos argenti gracie concessit. Et preter hæc dictus venerabilis pater nobis et nostris multa alia bona ac beneficia misericorditer contulit et legavit; Necnon et ejus boni executores, fidelesque sui domini dispensatores, in subvencione egenorum hactenus, quasi cotidie, copiosa dona post suum obitum impenderunt. Et cum dicunt doctores nullum bonum irremuneratum, debemus omnes hujus alimonie participes, quantum in nobis est, et si non in bonis corporalibus tamen in spiritualibus, videlicet devotarum precum instancia, rependere gratas vices. Set quia non sumus sufficientes ex nobis, quasi ex nobis, secundum Apostolum,^a ideoque confratrum nostrorum et amicorum in Christo movemur suffragia procurare. Hinc est quod vestre universitatis clemenciam obnixis precibus imploramus, quatinus, cum sit sancta et salubris cogitacio pro defunctis exorare, ut a peccatis solvantur, dignemini pii patris nostri predicti animam cum vestrorum defunctorum memoriis corditer commendare, ut vobis et vestris in communione consimili strictius obligemur ad parem pietatis compensam; vestros titulos huic scripto nostro caritatis intuitu obnixè quesumus subscribentes.

VI. SUFFRAGIORUM SUPPLICATIO PRO JOHANNE HEMYNGBURGH, PRIORE DUNELM.^a (OB. 1416.)

(Loc. 1.)

Universis Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos presentes litteræ per-venerint, humiles in Domino ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelm. cenobitæ post decursum hujus peregrinationis studium (sic, qu. stadium?) ad eternæ beatitudinis bravium pervenire, et facie ad faciem majestatis gloriam speculari. Quia ex primi hominis prevaricatione mors intravit in mundum, ideo lex naturæ, sic infectæ, indicit mortuos plangere, ac eorum memoriam humanis mentibus inserere devotisque precibus commendare. In typum primi planctus, scilicet mortuorum, Job, audita morte filiorum, in vestimentorum scissione vivi doloris expressit; Abraham, Sara mortua, venit ut pleret eam; Joseph et fratres sui septem dies super morte Jacob patris eorum cum gemitu compleverunt. Immo Christus Jhesus cum lacrimis Lazarum mortuum suscitavit. In signum secundi, videlicet de defunctorum memoria, Judas Machabeus duodecim milia dragmas argenti misit Jerosolimam, offerre ea ibi pro peccatis mortuorum; per quas dragmas moraliter notari possunt devotæ preces fidelium oblatae pro mortuis; nam sancta et salubris cogitatio pro defunctis exorare, ut a peccatis solvantur. Hinc est quod vestræ universitati reverendissimæ notum facimus per presentes venerabilem piæ memoriæ patrem nostrum dominum Johannem Hemmyngburgh,

^a A Roll of parchment consisting of nine membranes, twenty-three feet three inches in length by nine inches in breadth. Length occupied by the indorsements seventeen feet seven inches. The U, the initial letter of the "Breve," is splendidly illuminated with gold and other brilliant colours; subject, foliage, flowers, &c.

nuper priorem nostri monasterii Dunelmensis, in fata transisse; pro cuius obitu currere cogimur in lamenta, dum recolimus quam humilis in gestu, quam benignus in actu, quam jocundus in vultu, affabilis in colloquiis, circumspectus in consiliis, rectus in iudiciis, discretus in preceptis, zelum habens concordia, ac discordia inimicus, et in dispensatione temporalium satis providus extitit et fidelis. In omnibus ita temperanter agens, ne in affligendis penis pro modo culpæ appareret rigidus, vel tamen in corrigendis excessibus videretur tepidus et remissus; sed omnibus omnia factus se omnium bonorum moribus conformabat. Vixit autem in monachatu ferme sexaginta sex annis, in prioratu vero viginti quinque. Et tandem in senectute longevus, id est octoginta novem annorum, in egritudinem decidit, per quam ex hac luce subtractus est. Cujus morbi letalis prope finem extremam peciit unctionem; qua peracta, profusus in lacrimas, cum singultu et suspiriis, a cunctis fratribus circumstantibus, si forsán contra eorum alique[m] in suo regimine deliquisset, veniam humiliter imploravit. O quantus luctus omnium tunc ibidem presencium, precipue monachorum! Perinde ab illo tempore per totum residuum diei, quandoque gracias Deo agens, interdum misericordiam Dei petens, decimo septimo kalend. Octobris, in noctis principio, spiritum exalavit. Quo circa cum sit mos, presertim religiosorum, suos defunctos alternis precibus memorari, vestrae communitatis clemenciam imploramus obnixè, quatinus dignemini dicti patris nostri animam, cum animabus vestrorum ab hac luce subtractorum, memoriis corditer reminisci; ut vobis et vestris in communione consimili strictius obligemur ad pare[m] pietatis compensam; vestros titulos huic scripto nostro caritatis intuitu quesumus subscribentes.

VII. LAMENTATIO IN COMMENDACIONE JOHANNIS WESSYNGTON PRIORIS

Universis Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis, ad quos presentes literæ pervenerint, Willelmus, miseracione divina prior Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelmensis, et ejusdem loci Capitulum, post presentis et lacrimabilis peregrinacionis tedium consummatum ad futuræ beatitudinis bravium pervenire, et Divinæ majestatis claritatem eternaliter intueri. Sic enim ex primi parentis prevaricacionis culpa mortalis occasus seculum introivit, et in suos posteros naturaliter inolevit, quod non est hujus naturæ corruptæ particeps qui a Divinæ sententiæ examine exemptum se gaudeat et immunem. O dira tremendi judicis indicta sententia, a cunctis mortalibus nimium formidanda, quæ mortem minatur singulis, doloribus plenam fletibusque plangendam. Sed nunc quidem dolor nostris insisit precordiis dum mortem venerabilis patris dompni Johannis Wessyngton, nuper prioris nostri Monasterii Dunelmensis, condolentes, plangere et currere cogimur in lamenta, qui piissimo semper sollicitus affectu, caritate ut frater, benignitate ut pater, cura ut senior, et reverencia ut junior, nostrum latus quondam tutissime sepiebat. Hic nimirum florentis juventutis primordia, cui se devoverat, Domino consecravit, tumultuantis seculi fastum sub clamide observancie regularis in claustris silentium commutavit. Qualis etenim erat, quantisque virtutum insigniis effulsit, non est plene nostræ facultatis evolvere. Fuit vero gloria senum, corona juvenum, et utriusque conversacionis perspicuum speculum et exemplum. Verum maturiorum temporum adeptis successibus, amplioribus fulcitus virtutibus, per inspiracionem Sancti Spiritus concordî voce et unanimi eligitur in Priorem. Qui, curæ pastoralis assumpto regimine, in Sanctæ religionis prosperum incrementum totis viribus anelabat. Cultum Divinum ampliare vigilantius insudavit, decorem domus Dei ferventi amplectens amore, ecclesiam Dunelmensem studuit honorare et eandem honorifice reparavit, nec minus ad illius libertatum et jurium tuicionem saluberrimam labores corporales et mentales fatigaciones pertulit indefessos, nullum diem sine fructu duxit ad vesperam, quin orando aut legendo, conferendo vel dictando, seu Marthæ partem debite exercendo, totum diem transcurrere dulce habuit et delectabile. Demum, annis maturus et moribus, gravis infirmitatis attactus incommodo, nec tamen lecto decumbans, omni prelacionis dignitati prorsus renunciâns, ad celestia maturis gressibus properavit. Vixit autem in monachatu annis sexaginta, mensibus sex et aliquot septimanas, de quibus viginti novem annis et sex mensibus subditum summi gregem sollerti cura et operosa dirigens disciplina, cum magnis sumptibus et honore in specula prefuit prioratus; sexaginta vero et novem personas habitum induit monachalem. Postremo, octogesimum ferme agens annum, acrioris egritudinis laborans molestia, presenciens se resolvi, salutaribus sacramentis suum exitum premunivit, et quinto idus Aprilis, Anno Domini Millesimo cccc quinquagesimo primo, feria sexta, hora nona, servans videlicet diem et horam qua Christus in cruce pro nobis animam tradidit preciosam, glebam carnis deposuit, et spiritum Domino commendavit. Quocirca cum opus sit et meritorium captivas animas fidelium defunctorum penas luentes purgatorias vivorum precibus et pietatis operibus suffragari, ut a penis atrocibus celerius absolvantur, vestræ universitatis caritatem devotis precibus obnixius flagitamus, quatinus et maculas peccatorum, quas in carnali contraxit miseria,strarum precum devocio diluat et abstergat, et quod in animæ venerabilis patris nostri subsidium et levamen de promptuario pietatis conferre decreveritis, cum vestris insertis titulis redigi sedulo deprecamur, ut cognita vestræ devocionis munificencia vobis et vestris rependere teneamur.

^a Neither the engrossed copy nor any portion of the Roll of Tituli has been preserved.

Anima dompni Johannis W'n', &c.

The fair copy of this draft is reduced from one of much greater length, abounding with the usual figurative language, and preserved in the same Locellus. In the rough copy, which is entitled "Planctus mortis in laudem Johannis Wessyngton," are the following verses, written in narrative :—

Heu quid tristis agam, tali privata decore, Qualis, ut ipsa reor, postmodo nullus erit?
Ut firmare queo? nullus (qu. multis) fuit ipse juvamen, Ipse mihi requies ipse levamen erat.
Sed ferus e medio mortis rapit ensis amicum;
Pro dolor! jamdudum morte furente ruit.
Dulcis, amans, constans, semper fuit iste Johannes Wessyngton, gratus omnibus in genere.
Doctus erat, formosus erat, vir pectora fidus,
Vir dextram largus, ora disertus erat.
Heu sine te quid agam? sine quo mihi stare ruina;
Lux mihi nox, lux gaudia, vita mori.

VIII. ROTULUS BREVIATORIS PRO MAGISTRO ROBERTO EBCHESTER, &c.

(16 Locello primo.)

Universis^a Sanctæ Matris Ecclesiæ filius ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, Johannes permissione Divina Prior Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelm., et ejusdem loci Conventus, facie ad faciem Majestatis gloriam in terra vivencium finaliter speculari.^b—Per nuncium nostrum Robertum Dyton. Anno Domini Millesimo quadringentesimo octogesimo octavo.

^a The initial U, in pen and ink only, is very remarkable for its elegance. The Roll is eighteen feet seven inches in length by eleven inches in breadth, with thread holes at its head for an ornamental membrane.

^b The "Breve" before us is in precisely the same words as that of Priors William Ebchester and John Burnby (above, p. 1), the name of Robert Ebchester being substituted in its proper place instead of those of the two Priors.

Second Membrane.—1. Titulus Ecclesiæ Cath. Dunelm. Beatæ Mariæ semper Virginis et Sancti Cuthberti presulis, ordinis Sancti Benedicti. Qua quidem publicatione per eundem fratrem Willelmum Seton de eisdem votis et personis in hujusmodi inquisitione votorum nominatis coram nobis sic facta, idem frater Willelmus Seton, scrutator ad hoc per alios duos conscrutatores suos predictos et nos deputatus, collacionem numeri ad numerum, zeli ad zelum, et meriti ad meritum, presentibus conscrutatoribus suis predictis, et nobis omnibus et singulis assidentibus et audientibus, fecit publice sub hac forma.

Domini et confratres mei, constat vobis, prout notorium fuit et est, quod sumus in presenti monasterio in numero totali LXXI confratres et commonachi, ut prefetur, quorum duo, viz. Robertus Ebchestre et Robertus Werdale contumaciter se absentarunt, interessentes et vocem in hujusmodi eleccionis negocio habentes, de quibus xxxviii, videlicet Fratres Henricus Helay et Willelmus Seton, duo de conscrutatoribus, Thomas Ayre prior Cellæ de Fynchall, Thomas Forde rectorarius, Johannes Pencher prior de Coldyngham in Seocia, Johannes Warner tercius prior et feretrarius, Johannes Middelham bursarius, Johannes Rypon precentor, Johannes Hoton, Henricus Rakett camerarius, Johannes Bradebery magister sive custos Cellæ de Jarowe, Willelmus Fygee, Willelmus Hesilden, Willelmus Cuthbert decanus ordinis, Thomas Caly, Ricardus Billyngham, Thomas Holme magister Galileæ, Thomas Haighton, Johannes Aceley succentor, Thomas Derlyngton, Johannes Stele, Johannes Grene, Johannes Lilburne, Ricardus Stele, Robertus Billyngham, Willelmus Kollaunde, Willelmus Masham, Willelmus Pelton, Johannes Ryton, ac fratres Willelmus Seton, procurator magistri Willelmi Ebchestre Sacræ Paginæ Professoris, nuper Prioris Dunelm., Thomæ Lewyn et Willelmi Rodburne absencium, Thomas Caly, procurator Ricardi Blakburne, magistri Cellæ de Wermouth monachorum, Thomas Ayre, procurator Johannis Bothe absentis, Johannes Middelham, procurator Johannis Ryhall absentis, Johannes Warner, procurator Willelmi Elwike, Thomas Forde, procurator Ricardi Bruke absentis, et Ricardus Billyngham, procurator Johannis Aukelaunde, in magistrum Johannem Burneby, Sacræ Paginæ Professorem predictum; Et xxv, videlicet fratres Johannes Dorwarde, Georgius Syther, sub protestacione variandi, Willelmus Lyham, Ricardus Kellawe, magister Infirmarie, Willelmus Eden, Ricardus Wrake cellerarius, Ricardus Shirburne, alter decanus ordinis, Willelmus Byrden communarius, Johannes Eden, Willelmus Coken granatarius, Willelmus Jarvaux, senescallus hospicii Prioratus Dunelm., Johannes Bedfordth, Willelmus Easby, Robertus Knowte, Thomas Wrenne, Thomas Stayndropp, Robertus West, Thomas Genour, Ricardus Blakewell, Willelmus Coveryngham, ac fratres Willelmus Byrden, procurator magistri Ricardi Barton prioris Sancti Leonardi juxta Stamfordiam, et Johannis Roose absencium, Johannes Middelham, procurator Willelmi Dalton, prioris de Lethom, Willelmus Coken, procurator Johannis Kyrke, et Ricardus Kellowe, procurator Thomæ Halver absentis, in dominum Ricardum Bell suppriorum; Et iii, videlicet fratres Thomas Warde, prior Cellæ de Insula Sacra, secundus scrutatorum predictorum, Thomas Nessbitt, magister Johannes Burneby Sacræ Paginæ Professor, et Willelmus Kellowe, in dominum Willelmum Seton; Et unus, viz. dominus Ricardus Bell, supprior, in magistrum Willelmum Ebchestre nuper priorem Dunelm., ac unus, viz. frater Thomas Hexham, in dominum Thomam Ayre, priorem de Fynchall, commonachi et confratres monasterii nostri predicti in Priorem ejusdem monasterii sive prioratus et pastorem eligendum vota sua direxerunt, prout de hujusmodi numero et personis per seriem dicti scrutinii evidenter apparet; sic ergo constat quod major pars totius Capituli nostri consenserit in prefatum magistrum Johannem Burneby, in Priorem istius Monasterii sive Prioratus, ut prefertur, eligendum. Et sic constat quod ratione numeri idem magister Johannes Burneby, commonachus et confrater, prefatis fratribus Ricardo Bell suppriori, Willelmo Seton, magistro Willelmo Ebchestre et Thomæ Ayre, commonachis, ut prefertur, nominatis, in Priorem dicti nostri monasterii eligendum est merito preferendus.

COLLACIO ME-RITI AD MERI-TUM.

Item, ratione meriti, dictus Magister Johannes Burneby, in quem major pars et sanior consenserit, est de legitimo matrimonio procreatus, et in etate legitima et ordine sacerdotali notorie constitutus, in spiritualibus et temporalibus plurimum circumspectus, ac ad regimen dicti Monasterii sive Prioratus multum utilis habilis et ydoneus, virtuosisque actibus, vita et conversacione honestis multipliciter insignitus, ac per prelatos et proceres, aliasque graves personas, plurimum commendatus; qui gradum Doctoratus in Sacra Theologia per non nullos annos honorifice ac famosissime adeptus, quondam functus officio Supprioratus presentis ecclesiæ, ac nunc Custodis Collegii nostri in Oxonia; et in hiis omnibus bene notabiliter et laudabiliter se gessit. Et, licet dictus dominus Ricardus Bell, supprior, sit de legitimo matrimonio procreatus, legitimam habens etatem, ac scienciam sufficientem, vitæ et conversacionis honestæ virtuosis actibus decoratus, gradum Baccalariatus in Sacra Theologia assecutus, ac in non nullis officiis ejusdem monasterii bene se habuerit, ac nunc officio fungens Supprioratus ecclesiæ antedictæ, idem tamen Magister Johannes Burneby meritis prestancior, et in majori dignitate constitutus, est ipso domino Ricardo Bell et ceteris omnibus nominatis merito preferendus.

COLLACIO ZELI
AD ZELUM.

Item ratione zeli, nam illi qui nominaverunt eundem Magistrum Johannem Burneby sunt antiquiores tempore, viri utique providi et maturi, literarum sciencia et gradu scolastico eorum quidam multipliciter insigniti, quidam vero diversa officia digniora, tam intrinseca quam extrinseca, super utili regimine ad bonum commune Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelm. predictæ multipliciter et merito commendati, majorem utilitatem et commodum uberius nobis et monasterio nostro continue procurantes, ceterisque meritis et virtutibus prestanciores, ac honoribus et virtutibus, ut ex forma publicacionis votorum liquet evidenter, digniores, et meliorem zelum habentes, quia ubi est major numerus ibi presumitur major zelus; et sic constat quod ratione numeri ad numerum, meriti ad meritum, et zeli ad zelum, prefatus Magister Johannes Burneby predictis domino Ricardo Bell et ceteris omnibus, ut prefertur, nominatis est merito preferendus.

CONSENSUS CA-
PITULI DATUS
ELECTIONI

Subsequenter vero post dictam publicacionem votorum, sic, ut prefertur, factam, ipsi scrutatores predicti, ac nos omnes et singuli, omnibus et singulis actis, gestis, et inactitatis in presentis eleccionis negotio habitis superius et observatis, suum ac nostrum consensum prebuerunt, et prebuimus pariter et assensum. Et hiis gestis, prefatus frater Willelmus Seton, per dictos conscrutatores suos et nos ad hoc canonice et legitime deputatus, prefatum Magistrum Johannem Burneby in Priorem Monasterii sive Prioratus nostri predicti, in domo nostra capitulari, absque protractione aliquali, in scriptis elegit, et de eodem eidem monasterio sive prioratui nostro providit, ipsamque electionem pronunciavit et publicavit sollemniter in communi, eo, qui sequitur, sub tenore.

PUBLICATIO
COMMUNI.

In Dei nomine, Amen. Ego Willelmus Seton, monachus ecclesiæ Cath. Dunelm., Ordinis Sancti Benedicti, unus scrutatorum in hoc actu electionis electorum, potestatem michi a dictis conscrutatoribus et toto Capitulo attributam in me reverenter suscipiens, vice mea et dictorum conscrutatorum, omniumque et singulorum in hujusmodi electionis negotio voces habentium, et in magistrum Johannem Burneby consencientium, mandato et voluntate suis expressis, magistrum Johannem Burneby, commonachum et professum dictæ ecclesiæ Cath. Dunelm., Sacræ Paginæ Professorem, in Priorem ejusdem Monasterii sive Prioratus nomino et eligo, ac eidem Monasterio sive Prioratui provideo de eodem, hujusmodique electionem de ipso factam pronuncio et publico in communi. ¶ Quam quidem electionem de ipso factam et celebratam, ut premittitur, nos omnes et singuli, de prefato Capitulo, ibidem existentes et in hujusmodi electione vocem habentes, predicto magistro Johanne electo dumtaxat excepto, concorditer et expresse, nemine reclamante seu contradicente, approbavimus, et ipsam ratam et gratam habuimus pariter et acceptam, necnon omnibus et singulis premissis actis et gestis, ut prefertur, expresse consensimus et iterum consentimus. Quibus sic habitis et gestis, prefatum dominum Ricardum Bell, Suppriorum, nos omnes et singuli de Capitulo memorato ordinavimus et deputavimus ad publicandum in ecclesia predicta dictam electionem, sic de ipso magistro Johanne Burneby electo factam, clero et populo, in vulgari. Et statim eundem magistrum Johannem Burneby, electum nostrum, in ecclesiam Cathedralē predictam ad summum altare ejusdem deduci fecimus, ibidemque prosterni, TE DEUM LAUDAMUS solempniter decantantes. Qua decantacione finita, predictus dominus Ricardus Bell, supprior, juxta potestatem sibi a nobis, ut prefertur, traditam, electionem ipsam de prefato magistro Johanne Burneby, sic ut premittitur, factam, clero et populo in multitudine copiosa ibidem congregatis publicavit et exposuit notabiliter in vulgari. Subsequenterque, videlicet xxix die dicti mensis Octobris, anni predicti, idem Supprior et nos omnes et singuli de Capitulo antedicto, in domo Capitulari nostra ibidem presentes, et Capitulum hac die facientes, dilectos confratres nostros dominos Johannem Warner et Willelmum Seton supradictos, ibidem personaliter presentes, nostros veros et legitimos procuratores et nuncios speciales ordinavimus, fecimus et constituimus, ad presentandum pro nobis et nomine nostro prefato magistro Johanni Burneby, electo, electionem de se, ut prefertur, prius factam, et sibi eandem notificandum, ipsumque, ut electioni hujusmodi de se factæ suum consensum pariter et assensum prebere dignetur, petendum, requirendum et exorandum. Cujus quidem potestatis vigore, per se et eorum alterum humiliter acceptæ, iidem domini Johannes Warner et Willelmus Seton, nomine suo et nostro, predicta xxix die mensis predictæ, inter horas terciam et quartam post meridiem ejusdem diei, de consensu et mandato nostris expressis, electionem hujusmodi de prefato magistro Johanne, ut premittitur, factam eidem magistro Johanni, electo, in quadam domo communi ecclesiæ Cathedralis predictæ personaliter existenti, presentarunt et notificarunt, ipsumque electum sepius et cum instantia requisierunt, ut electioni de se factæ suum consensum prebere dignaretur. Qui quidem magister Johannes Burneby, electus, respondit se velle super hoc deliberare, priusquam electioni hujusmodi ex arrupto presumeret consentire. Et tunc procuratores nostri ab eodem electo se diverterunt, ipso ibidem cum certis personis expectante. Deinde, die Dominica, viz. ultimo die Octobris, in quadam capella Sancti Andree, infra Infirmaryam monachorum Dunelm., inter horas octavam et nonam ante meridiem ejusdem diei, ad dictum electum ibidem personaliter apprehensum revertentes et redeuntes, eundem electum iterato humiliter requisierunt, ut electioni hujusmodi de se factæ suum preberet assensum. Quibus idem magister Johannes electus respondit et dixit se velle super hoc ulterius aliquantulum deliberare. Et tunc idem electus ad altare dictæ capellæ se divertebat, et habitis per eum ibidem cum consilio suo communicacione aliquanti, maturaque et proluxa deliberacione, ut apparuit, super premissis, inter horas secundam et terciam post meridiem ejusdem diei in eadem capella ad procuratores nostros predictos ac notarium et testes subscriptos, ibidem existentes, reversus, et per prefatos procuratores nostros iterum cum instantia non modica requisitus, ut electioni hujusmodi de se factæ consentiret, ipsorumque procuratorum nostrorum et nostris tandem devictus precibus et instantiis, non audens, ut asseruit, Divinæ resistere voluntati, dictæ electioni de se factæ, quatenus in eo fuit, consensiit, tam timide quam devote, sub hac forma.

In Dei nomine, Amen. Ego Johannes Burneby, monachus regularis ecclesiæ Cathedralis Dunelm., ordinis Sancti Benedicti, ac in ordine sacerdotali notorie constitutus, in Priorem ecclesiæ et Prioratus Dunelm., per confratres meos, Suppriorum et Capitulum, ipso Prioratu per resignationem et cessionem magistri Willelmi Ebchestre, ultimi Prioris ibidem, nuper vacante, canonice electus, ad consensendum hujusmodi electioni de me factæ, ex parte et per partem eorundem Supprioris et Capituli pluries cum instantia non modica requisitus, non audens Divinæ resistere voluntati, precibus multiplicatis confratrum meorum, ac specialiter Johannis Warner et Willelmi Seton procuratorum Supprioris et Capituli predictorum ad hoc deputatorum, devictus instantiis, electioni hujusmodi, michi presentatæ, ad honorem Sanctæ et Individuæ Trinitatis, gloriosæque Virginis Sanctæ Mariæ, et Sancti Cuthberti patroni ejusdem ecclesiæ, omniumque Sanctorum Dei, quatenus in me est, consencio, et meum expressum consensum et assensum, licet timide, hujusmodi electioni prebeo in hiis scriptis. Subsequenterque, die lunæ, viz. primo die mensis Novembris anni supradicti, facta notificacione nobis Suppriori et Capitulo de consensu — nos — confratres nostros

X. COPIA LITERÆ BREVIATORIS DE FURNES. (Reg. III. 60 b.)

Universis—Frater Robertus Abbas Monasterii B. Mariæ de Furnesio et ejusdem loci Conventus, salutem, quam sanguis in cruce contulit Salvatoris. Altissimus plasmator omnium ad hoc humanam naturam ad sui similitudinem et ymaginem creavit, ex anima et corpore constitutam, et in hoc exilio miserabili collocavit, ut, finito pro suæ voluntatis arbitrio hujus vitæ, velut cujusdam peregrinationis, cursu, ipsum compositum in sua principia resolvatur, et ad terram, de qua est, corpore redeunte, ad Dominum, a quo datus est Spiritus, revertatur. Quam quidem peregrinationem nemo potest sine multarum coinquinacionum contagione peragere, sicut nec pedes itinerancium iter suum absque pulveris adhesionem transire. Quare summe indigent a presenti seculo transeuntes sacramentorum remediis et vivorum devotis oracionum suffragiis subveniri, quæ quidem ex magno Dei miserantis munere solamina dinoscuntur esse vivorum et sita (sic) juvamina defunctorum. Cum igitur per nosmet ipsos minus plene sufficiamus in hiis, quæ nostræ sunt congregationis defunctis fratribus facienda, Universitatem vestram mutuæ caritatis et vicissitudinis intuitu suppliciter exoramus, quatinus pro anima bonæ memoriæ dompni Willelmi, nuper Abbatis nostri, et animabus Confratrum familiarium et benefactorum nostrorum, de hujus seculi ergastulo evocatorum, quorum nomina lator presencium vobis presentabit, apud pium Judicem sitis interventores devoti, ut quicquid eis terrenæ fragilitatis inhesit, dum viverent, vestris sacris precibus expietur, et per eas ad gaudia provehantur eterna, J. cognomento Leesmaker, nostra vobis Brevia deferenti, humane tractantes, victualia exhibere dignemini, intuitu caritatis; Scientes indubie quod, ultra Divinæ retributionis mercedem, nos ad vicem reciprocam velle libencius obligari. In cujus, &c. sigillum Officii quo ad hujusmodi utimur presentibus apponi fecimus, post biennium minime valituris. Dat. apud Fournes predict., in domo nostra Capitulari, xviii die mensis Marcii, A. D. Mcccc decimo septimo.

XI. LITERA BREVIATORIS WESTMONASTERII APUD LONDON. ORDINIS S BENEDICTI. (Reg. III. 51.)

loci conventus, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Misericordia Creatoris rationabili compaciens creaturæ, quæ propter notam inobedientiæ, quam a primo parente contraxerat, in irrevocabilem sententiam incidit moriendi, salubriter ordinavit, quod post separationem corporis et animæ, migrantibus ab hac vita subvenirent oracionum suffragia devotarum. Vobis igitur omnibus et singulis, sub sacrosanctæ religionis habitu constitutis, quos in unum orthodoxæ fidei professio colligavit, mutuæ vicissitudinis obtentu cum omni affectione, qua possumus, supplicamus, quatinus pro nostris fratribus jam defunctis velitis Domino salvatori effundere pias preces et R de Cröfte, exhibitori presencium literarum, ne in via deficiat, in victualibus providere. Valeant istæ literæ post confeccionem per triennium, et vos cum Domino in eternum. Dat. in Domo, &c. iij. non. Apr. A. D. Mcccc septimo decimo.

XII. COPIA BREVIATORIS SANCTI EDMUNDI DE BURY. (Reg. III. 59 b.)

Quamvis hii, qui cum pietate dormicionem acceperant, optimam habeant repositam gratiam, tamen animæ eorum a corporibus separatæ pro peccatorum squaloribus, quæ contraxerant hic in vita, igne purgatorii acriter puniuntur, quarum pena minime finietur quousque ibi satisfecerint, ut est justum, nisi eis vivorum suffragiis succurratur; sancta igitur et salubris est cogitacio pro defunctis exorare ut a penis solvantur. Qua propter, afflictis in purgatorio existentibus ex intimo condolentes, cupientesque earum liberationi procurare celeriter remedia oportuna, vestram caritatem, affectione qua possumus, cordialiter deprecamur, quatinus omnibus Christi fidelibus generaliter, sed ipsis defunctis specialiter, quorum nomina, cum ad vestram noticiam pervenerint, in nostris Brevibus, vobis missis, consuetis suffragiis et operibus misericordiæ caritatis intuitu dignemini subvenire, W. XIV. COPIA LITERÆ BREVIATORIS MONASTERII DERLEYENSIS.

(REG. III. 147 b.)

Universis Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis, et precipue regularem vitam profitentibus, presentem paginam inspecturis, frater Rogerus, divina paciencia Abbas et totus conventus Derleyensis monasterii modicus et humiliatus, salutem, quam sanguis exhibuit Salvatoris. Quam flebile divorcium sit carorum, socialiter sibi complacencium, in occasu lamen-tabili piæ memoriæ domini Symonis, nuper Abbatis nostri,^a compe-rimus evidenter, ex cujus morte gaudendum foret potius quam dolen-dum, si rationem admitteret vis doloris, cum ipse de carnis ergastulo creptus et a carcerali angustia ad supernæ civitatis inenarrabile gau-dium evocatus, ut fas est credere, in celesti sit collegio collocandus. Cujus vita subjectorum extitit regula, magisterium semper in specula (sic) modesta conversacio, cuilibet pie viventi exemplar egregium honestatis, commisso sibi ad honorem ecclesiæ utens officio, subjectos regens in virga et baculo, ministrum Dei per arma justiciæ a dextris et a sinistris se viriliter exhibendo. Talibus igitur virtutum caris-matibus delibutus, jam subiit leti sentenciam, ob vetiti ligni gustum in primevos parentes nostros prolatam, quam nullus evadere poterit successorum. Qui licet, dum adhuc viveret, in Rachelis olimpo lumen sepius penetraret celestium secretorum, illa tamen includebatur sen-tencia cunctis terrigenis formidanda. Nullus mundus a sordibus, nec infans unius diei, si sit vita ejus super terram. Unde ipsum quem modis terrestrium sub domo lutea dignam vitam duxisse letamur, itine-rando non veremur pulverem in pedibus collegisse. Nos itaque super occasu ejusdem piissimi patris nostri plurimum contristati et gravi

PREMONSTR. (REG. III. 176 b.)

Universis—Frater Thomas Dei paciencia ecclesiæ S. Mariæ de Berlynges, ordinis Premonstratensis, Lincoln. Dioc. minister humilis, et ejusdem loci conventus, salutem quam mors promeruit Salvatoris. Universam humani generis naturam a primi parentis prevaricatione pestifera immortalitatis dote, proth dolor ! privatam, et ex radice vicio ad ramos transmissio peccati veneno mortaliter infectam, post graves et multiplices temporales vitæ misérias, peccati penas, quas sustinet ex decreto, involvit tandem generaliter peccati stipendium mors amara; mors, inquam, terribilis et timenda, eo ferventiori et frequentiori studio recolenda, quo, senescente jam mundo, qui propter continuam et incorrigibilem hominum maliciam totus ponitur in maligno provocata, justissime in ulcionem peccati vindice manu Dei modernis temporibus solito frequentius perimi quamplurimos et preripi cernimus improvisos. Cujus quidem mortis recordacione perutili minime permoti, attendentes evidenter quod non est via plana quæ ducit ad gaudia plena, nec sit in hac vita quispiam sic mundus quin de carnis corrupcione secum ad extremum deferat rubiginem peccati quam ignis purget et examinet ad purum, opus esse credimus meriti non exilis pia oracionum suffragia impendere resolutis. Vestræ igitur sanctæ fraternitatis caritatem, quam votivis affectibus in Domino reveremur, suppliciter peti-mus et precamur, quatinus fratres ac familiares nostros ex hujus exilii tenebris jam subtractos, ut ad patriam claritatis eternæ feliciter perveniant, vestris devotis precibus ceterisque placabilibus Deo obsequiis habere velitis specialiter commendatos, latori presencium, Johanni Cawod, cum ad vos descenderit, victus necessaria, si placet, more solito ministrantes. XVI. LITERA BREVIATORIS MONASTERII SANCTI ALBANI. (REG. III. 190 b.)

Universis Sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis, presentes literas inspecturis, Johannes, permissione divina Abbas exempti Monasterii Sancti Albani, et ejusdem loci conventus, salutem in Eo, qui est omnium vita superstitum et resurreccio mortuorum. Per inobedienciam primi patris peccatum, et per peccatum mors, in mundum introierat. Nam, qui innocenciæ statu mortis erat exemptus, imperio principi (sic) mortis gratis obediens, se cum posteritate sua tota mortis legibus subjugavit, ita quod nichil reliquit in homine, cui non inerat necessitas moriendi, donec veniret medicus prepotens, inter mortuos solus liber, qui et calcavit mortis imperium et interiorem hominem pristinæ restituit libertati, Et pro eo misericorditer precavens in futurum, in hominis potestate suorum posuit remedia peccatorum, quæ sunt condigni fructus penitentiæ per opera pietatis, totum hominem denuo sanaturus, quando dicetur ab eo, qui non invenitur minus habens, Ubi est, mors, victoria tua? Quem triumphum omnibus, et specialiter fratribus nostris, optamus in Christo defunctis, pro quibus vestram in Domino rogamus caritatem, quatinus eisdem, cum ad vos eorum nomina in Brevibus nostris pervenerint, consuetis misericordiæ operibus subvenire velitis; ut quod per humanam negligenciam de condignis penitentiæ fructibus minus habent, per vestra pia suffragia suppleatur. Portitori autem Brevium eorundem, Roberto Fryth, cum ad vos declinaverit, humanitatis, si placet, beneficium impendentes, spiritualiter quidem et temporaliter vestris pro nostris volumus obligari. In cujus rei testimonium huic scripto sigillum nostrum commune duximus apponendum. Data apud Sanctum Albanum, in domo nostra capitulari, septimo die Novembris, anno Domini millesimo quadringentesimo tricesimo quarto. Valeant literæ presentes per biennium et vos feliciter in eternum.

XVII. LETTERS OF FRATERNITY GRANTED BY THE PRIOR AND CONVENT OF DURHAM.

Of the recorded Letters of Fraternity granted by the Prior and Convent of Durham, of which the following are brief notices in English, not fewer than sixteen are printed at length in the other Publications of this Society; and to them, referred to below as they occur in their abridged state, the reader is referred for the general character of the Letters themselves, and of the privileges which they were intended to convey.^a It may be here briefly stated, that in general they address the person to whom they were granted in the most pompous way, if he had any rank or title to boast of; and in the next place they proceed to enumerate his general merits, and then they not unfrequently specify some particular act of kindness by which he had laid the Convent under obligation; the spiritual privileges, of which he is made a partaker, are afterwards set forth at length, and an undertaking is entered into to perform in the Church of Durham and her Cells, upon his death being duly announced by the presentation of the Letter of Fraternity itself, such religious offices as were performed for a monk who had lived and died in the fraternity. In the following abstracts the highly-sounding Latin titles and addresses which occur in the originals are simply translated into their corresponding English terms, and each act of particular favour is noticed. The person to whom the letter was granted was afterwards, during his or her life-time, addressed by the Monastery as brother or sister.

1315. 30 Ap. To the noble man the Lord John de Warren, Earl of Surrey. (Reg. II. 53.)

John Plantagenet, the last Earl of Surrey of his family, and also Earl of Sussex. He married Joan daughter of Henry Earl of Barr by his wife Eleanor daughter of Edw. I., by whom he had no issue. He died in 1347. This Grant is printed in the "Hist. Dunelm. Script. Tres," App. cxii.

1315. 20 Ap. To the lady Lady Matilda de Nerford. (Ibid.)

According to Vincent the concubine of the Earl of Surrey above.

132 . . To the Lady Alianor de Percy and Henry and William her sons (in French.) Benefits to our Priory of Finchale and to our Church of Northallerton, which had been burnt and destroyed by the Scots. (Reg. II. 65. b.)

1366. 17 Feb. To Richard Vernon "generoso viro, et nobili domino," in return for kindnesses to our Cell of Students at Oxford. (Reg. II. 260. b.)

1371. To John Broun, a fellow citizen (conciui) of the town of Stamford. (Reg. II. 263. b.)

A benefactor, doubtless, to the Cell of Saint Leonard's at Stamford, a small monastery dependent upon the Convent of Durham.

1391. 21 Jul. Protest of the Chapter of Durham.

This very singular notarial document recites that the Convent had admitted John de Dunbar Earl of "Morrett," a Scotchman, into fraternity, and had permitted him to be received into their hospitality when, as it was believed, at the point of death; that since that time the kingdom of Scotland had become schismatic by adhering to Clement the anti-Pope, and it protests against any schismatical construction being put upon this act of admission, and asserts that the Earl continued to be a good Catholic and no partizan of the Usurper. The document contains the names of every monk of Durham then resident at home. The Earl of Moray was a younger brother of George tenth

^a The custom was common in every other monastery. A Letter of Fraternity, granted to Sir Robert Claxton, kn., and Agnes his wife, by the poor Friars Minors of Hartlepool in 1479, may be seen in Mr. Surtees's History of Durham, vol. i. part II. p. 27.

Earl of Dunbar, and, recovering his health, was killed in a tourney with the Earl Marshal of England in 1394.

1392. June 10. To the noble and to-God-devoted lady the Lady Johanna, relict of Sir Richard de Byngham, Knight.—“And we have inserted the name of the said Sir Richard in our Martyrology.” (Reg. II. 308. b. Printed at length in the HIST. DUNELM. SCRIPT. TRES, by this Society. App. p. clxxii.)

A Sir Richard Bingham, probably the son of the above, was a Justice of the Court of King's Bench in 1451. See “Test. Ebor.,” ii. 154.

1398. 20 May. To Thomas de Barton and Cissot his wife. Kindnesses to our Cell of Lethome. (Reg. II. 328. b.)

Isabella, Lady of Horden in the parish of Earington, was the only daughter and heiress of Sir William de Menville, and the widow of Sir William Claxton, owner of Horden in her right. In her widowhood she resided in the South Bailey in Durham, and died in 1421.

1417. Feb. 1. To the Lord George de Dunbar, Earl of the Eastmarch in Scotland, and Cristian his wife. (Ib. 59.)

George tenth Earl of Dunbar and March died in 1420, upwards of 80 years of age. Christiana, his wife, was the daughter of Sir William Seton of Seton. The “Priory of Coldingham” by this Society (v. p. 89) develops the circumstances which, doubtless, led to this grant of Fraternity, which is printed in that volume, p. 90.

1419. Jul. 3. To Sir Robert Humfrayville, Knt. and Isabella his wife. (Ib. 67. b.)

Knight of the Garter, Vice-Admiral of England, and Lord of Redesdale in Northumberland. He died 27 Jan. 1436. Isabella his wife is not mentioned in the pedigree of the family.
